

Great Ideas to get the kids moving from Lock , Paper, Scissors Website

Fun apocalypse survival tip #5 - Keep the kids active with a thrilling indoor obstacle course:

Let your kids build their own obstacle courses and challenge each other. This game makes for hours of creative at-home fun, while also burning off some of that extra energy. Make sure to spice it up with a super-cool theme. How about:

- A sneaky jewel heist?
- A superhero overcoming the evil villain's lair?
- Infiltrating a government facility?

Here are some fun obstacle ideas:

- Shoot down enemy targets.
- Vault/jump obstacles such as tables, chairs, and boxes.
- Crawl/slide under obstacles such as tables, chairs, or limbo broomsticks (more awesome if you wear socks on tiles).

- Hang string to make a lazerwire maze.
- Avoid being hit by pillows and nerf darts.
- Outrun the exercise ball (Indiana Jones-style!).
- Lay a broomstick on the ground and balance-walk across it.
- Navigate a minefield blindfolded (with the help of your friends).

To find out what else is on offer following the link <https://lockpaperscissors.co/escape-party-kits>